Behaviorists for Social Action Journal functions as a forum for the discussion of ethical, social, and political issues as they relate to the field of behavior analysis. It serves as a vehicle for the critical appraisal of the effects, both practical and theoretical, of behavior analysis as an actual or potential force capable of contributing to the oppression as well as the liberation of humanity.

The BFSA Journal is the official journal of Behaviorists for Social Action, a special interest group of the Association for Behavior Analysis. As such, we are mandated to print the following:

"The Association for Behavior Analysis recognizes and encourages expression of the diverse interests of its members, some of whom have organized themselves into different special interest groups. The Behaviorists for Social Action Journal is published by one of these interest groups, Behaviorists for Social Action."

Requests for information concerning membership in BFSA and subscriptions to the BFSA Journal should be addressed to:

The BFSA Journal now has a managing editor! Jon Koerner (Department of Psychology, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minn., 55455) assumes these duties with this issue. Jon’s involvement is a major step forward in the evolution of this publication, and ensures that the technical quality of the Journal continues to improve. Welcome aboard, Jon!

The BFSA Journal is one of 380 national social justice publications included in the 1982 edition of the U.S. Progressive Periodicals Directory. The Directory provides current information for each of the social change publications it lists, including address, phone number, editor, publisher, date founded, frequency, and subscription costs. Its listings are grouped in categories such as civil liberties, cultural, environmental, health, international concerns, labor, peace, and religious. Examples of other publications included in the listing are El Salvador Alert, Nutrition Action, and Solidarity. The Directory is intended to facilitate communication among individuals and publications active in social change, and may be ordered for $4.00 (including postage; $2.50 for five or more copies) from:

Behavior Analysts Against Nuclear War held their organizational meeting at the 1982 ABA convention. We hope to have further information on this group in future issues.

Regular readers will note that the BFSA Journal has changed its appearance with this issue. The editors hope you agree that the new colors, typeface and layout have resulted in a more attractive, more readable Journal. Best of all, these changes have resulted in a substantial savings (approximately $800) in the production of this issue. Our thanks go to the Cleveland State University Graphics Department and to Haymarket Press (a worker-owned cooperative in Minneapolis) for contributing jobs well done and fairly priced to the struggle against social injustice.
