Online Tutorials Ready to Assist with Your Net Navigation

by Sandy De Groote

Librarians here at the Library of the Health Sciences (LHS) have developed multiple tutorials for assisting patrons as they navigate and explore our vast collection of online databases and collaboration tools. Each tutorial has been broken into specific topical segments so you can focus on your navigation needs. You’ll find all of the LHS tutorials on our Health Sciences Tutorials and Instructional Guide.

The tutorials include: RefWorks, EndNote, PubMed, Web of Science, EMBASE, CINAHL, online Cool Tools (includes online collaboration tools), and Keeping Current. Please check these out and give us your feedback by using the “Evaluate this Tutorial” button. More tutorials are on the way.

Sandy De Groote, MLIS, AHIP
Scholarly Communications Librarian and Associate Professor University Library
University of Illinois at Chicago