Announcement
Designated Quiet Study Area at LHS-Chicago

By Gerald R. Jurek

The Library of the Health Sciences (LHS) at Chicago continues to develop technology-assisted, collaborative and casual learning environments in order to meet the varied needs of our community.

We remain, however, firmly committed to providing a more traditional atmosphere for learning.

In view of this commitment and the on-going transformation of Library space, LHS-Chicago will designate its entire third floor as a Quiet Study Area (see photos below).

We ask patrons using this area to assist us in maintaining an environment appropriate for quiet study.

This change is effective March 1st.
